Summary

I am an 18-year-old aspiring web developer and Python developer from Kumanovo, North Macedonia. Since a young age, I have been captivated by the world of computers, and my curiosity led me to delve into coding at the age of 13. Initially, I followed a YouTube tutorial to create a simple game, sparking my passion for programming.

Over the years, my interest in coding fluctuated, but at the age of 16, I made a conscious decision to transition from considering it a hobby to pursuing it as a profession. Python became my language of choice, and I embarked on a journey to learn and master its intricacies. As my skills grew, I ventured into developing web applications using the Django framework.

Throughout my learning process, I have undertaken numerous website projects, some of which reached completion while others remained unfinished. Regardless of the outcome, each endeavor served as a valuable learning experience, allowing me to enhance my skills and expand my knowledge base. With dedication and perseverance, I can confidently say that I have now mastered the Django framework and am currently working towards mastering the Django Rest Framework.

Looking ahead, my goal is to establish myself as a proficient software developer. I am eager to contribute my expertise and creative problem-solving abilities to the development of innovative software solutions. As I continue to refine my skills and gain real-world experience, only time will reveal the heights I can achieve in this dynamic field.
